Parent Newsletter 6 - 11th May 2020

Dear Parents/Guardians,

As I write this newsletter, I am still coming to terms with the announcement from Boris Johnson last night. If and might were words I heard quite a bit and I hope more guidance will be given in the document to be released at 2 o'clock today.

I hope you all enjoyed the VE Day celebrations in some form. I made some cakes and ate them all myself! UI did enjoy the singing in our street as everyone joined in from their gardens.

This week the teachers have worked together to produce learning materials that we hope will support you at home. The theme is rainbows and all the primary school aged children in the household should be able to work together for most of it. Your feedback would be valuable to us to help us decide whether we would repeat. As always, we appreciate how difficult things are especially for some families. Please encourage your child to keep leaning and to engage with school at least once a day.

If you need more support, please let us know. The teachers will be making contact this week rather than myself.

You may be really enjoying the teaching. If so, how about coming to school as a volunteer to listen to readers or other support? 9:00 to 9:20 any morning is particularly useful for us. We already have many volunteers and they are a big asset to the school. A charity called ABC to read, who also support us at school, are looking for volunteers to support when the lock down is over. They provide some training. Please see attached flyer.

Another charity that support the school is Place2Be. We have very strong connections through some parents to this wellbeing support. We have be asked if we would circulate a survey for them.

In the past I have mentioned the need to keep safe online. Thames Valley police have also circulated some guidance regarding online safety, please find attached.

Stay safe
